American Sub Sinks 5 Jap Ships; Engine Room Damaged

By MURLIN SPENCER
Pearl Harbor, June 9 (AP)—The U. S. S. "Zebra" surfaced with a rush of white water slipping from her sides and found herself in the center of a convoy. For a time she sailed along with two ships on each side of her and another astern.
Actually it was an unheard of place to be. The Zebra is an American submarine. The convoy was Japanese.
Then the Zebra (that is a mythical name because her true identity remains a navy secret) went to work in a slashing, lone attack that is one of the epics of submarine warfare in the Pacific.
"It was black as hell," explained Lt. Cmdr. W. T. Griffith, of New London, Conn., who commanded the Zebra on that memorable war patrol. "We fired a torpedo at the largest ship to starboard. We saw it hit and in the rolling flame of explosion and fire saw the bridge, bow section and high forward mast disintegrate."
"A great, deep steam whistle started blowing and it blew continuously."
"We turned on another ship to port. There was another great rumbling explosion—we were close, only about 300 yards away. It was time to work fast so we went back to work on the first ship which we had damaged. We put another fish in her and the whistle stopped blowing."
"It was at this exact moment that we heard a tremendous explosion from the second ship we had attacked. Both ships sank."
It was a big night's work for the undersea craft but there was more work to be done. She prowled the South China sea in search of more Japanese shipping.
The time was late 1943 and the Japanese still controlled most of the waters of the Orient. Their great merchant fleet was challenged only by the daring submarines.
Hunting continued good for Commander Griffith and his daring crew. Once again they encountered a Japanese convoy, carrying vital cargo of men, oil, munitions, supplies.
Two More Sunk
Without hesitation the Zebra attacked. It was a few hours after midnight. The night was black.
"We fired fish at the leading target—the largest ship in the convoy," said Griffith. "We got many hits and the target sank in four minutes."
"We shifted to another ship in the column and scored two hits. The target when last seen was down aft and awash to the bridge. It was at this point that a third vessel opened fire on us with five or six-inch guns. Its second shot appeared to hit in the engine room."
The ship had asked for it and Griffith turned on her. He fired torpedoes and they scored.
"The ship stopped shooting and began to sink."

115 SENIORS GET DIPLOMAS FROM GETTYSBURG HS

"The next forty years is the era in which I would prefer to live over any other," Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college, told the 115 members of the graduating class of Gettysburg high school at commencement exercises Friday night at the school. Adding that some people are born pessimists, the noted educator observed that few people ever get far from where they were born.
"The present conflict is a Tale of Two Cities," Dr. Hanson said. "Berlin and San Francisco are the capitals of two different worlds," he continued. "Dead Berlin is the capital of the forces of evil, and San Francisco is the home of a bright new era during which, if the nations learn self-mastery and how to surmount their distrust of one another, the blueprints of the future will be drawn for the benefit of humanity forever."
The president of Gettysburg college stressed the need of individual self-mastery, courage and vision as the prime requisites of successful Christian living, saying that a man must be willing to work and slave for many years to begin to accomplish what he sets out to achieve and it is the duty of all to say or do something to make Gettysburg and the nation thankful that they have come into the world.
Special Music
The commencement exercises began with a prelude by the high school orchestra entitled "Capriccio," by LeRoy, following which the graduating class marched in to the strains of the processional, "Coronation March," by Kretschmer. After the class had taken its place the entire gathering joined in singing the "Star Spangled Banner." Then the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, pronounced the invocation.
Harry Spangler, of the senior class, then played a trombone solo, "Evening Star," by Wagner accompanied by Barbara Johnson. Immediately preceding the commencement address by Dr. Hanson, the senior choir sang two selections, "Verdant Meadows," by Handel and "If My Songs Had Wings," by Hahn.
Professor Guile W. Lefever, principal of the high school introduced the commencement speaker who delivered his address to the class.
Doris Ann Gaines of the senior class then read a tribute to the members of the class now serving in the armed forces following a flute solo, "Rustic Dance," played by senior Gloria Ecker.
Presents Diplomas
Professor Lefever called the roll of the class and Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe, superintendent of Gettysburg public schools, presented the diplomas after making a few farewell remarks. The graduates filed solemnly up to the stage to receive certificates from the superintendent. When the last diploma had been presented, the senior choir formed on the stage. Richard Altomese of the graduating class read the prayer by Stephen Vincent Benet which the late President Roosevelt read at the time of the signing of the charter of the United Nations. The choir sang the famous musical setting of the Lord's Prayer by Malotte and (Please Turn to Page 3)

15 PUPILS GET HIGH SCHOOL CERTIFICATES

Fifteen graduates of St. Francis Xavier's parochial school who received high school entrance certificates at commencement exercises in the Catholic church Friday evening were urged to "lead Christian lives, follow the examples of the Christ child and be a credit to your home, your church, your community and your country." The commencement address was delivered by Rev. Fr. Francis X. Desmond, C.M., rector of Mt. St. Mary's seminary, Emmitsburg.
"This is a memorable day in your lives," Father Desmond said. "It should be a day when you resolve to do honor to God, to your church, your parents, teachers, yourself and your country. You should so plan your future to exemplify the likeness and image of God, to be good Christians. Your objective purpose in life should be to live as to receive the eternal reward we all seek. Strive with all your efforts to be successful. Be distinguished, be leaders, show good examples in all things you do. Live clean lives. Strive to be a credit to your community, your church and your country. Be loyal and trustful. Follow the advice of your parents. Be obedient. Copy the life of Christ and ask Him to guide you in your future years in all things that you do and strive to accomplish. An official of the Evergreen cemetery association said this is the first reported case of theft at the Evergreen cemetery since an epidemic of thievery there several years ago when it became necessary to place guards in the cemetery over the Memorial Day season.

STRAWBERRIES PLENTIFUL ON MARKET TODAY

The supply of strawberries was the largest so far this season at the Farmers' market today but the price held at 50 and 55 cents per quart. Sweet cherries, which growers said will be in good supply for two more weeks, could not meet the demand this morning at 25 and 35 cents a quart. Bing and Carnation were the most popular varieties.
The supply of fryers lasted about two hours at market today instead of disappearing under the first wave of buyers at 5:30 a. m. The price was 60 cents a pound. Older fowl sold at 57 and 59 cents a pound but the supply was light.
Egg prices registered a one-cent increase at some stands with most ducksters asking 44 and 45 cents a dozen.
Garden Crops Offered
New peas continued scarce at 19 cents a pound and 18 cents a quart box but supplies of lettuce were abundant at five and 10 cents a box. Spinach was 20 cents a quarter peck. First head lettuce was offered at 10 cents a head. Rhubarb sold quickly at 10 cents a bunch. Radishes and onions could be had at five and 10 cents a bunch. Last year's turnips sold for 10 cents a quart box.

A few apples were offered at several stands at 35 cents a quarter peck and up while small sized Stayman and Delicious were sold quickly at $3.25 a bushel.
While Tuesday market sessions have become popular for the season, marketmen said there are no plans at present for Thursday sessions.

Flame-Throwers Are Burning Out Last Of Okinawa Japanese

By HAMILTON W. FARON
Guam, June 9 (AP)—American infantry, attacking with flame throwers and demolition charges today began flanking the last-ditch Japanese defense line on southern Okinawa along the Yaeju-Dake escarpment, which radio Tokyo said was being given "arms and supplies" by parachute.
Marines of the First Division drove 1,600 yards to the west coast yesterday, sealing off the only possible escape corridor of Nipponese in the Naha airfield area, where the enemy was compressed by the Sixth Marine Division into a three-square-mile trap.
Heavy navy rifles, field artillery, rockets and bombs boomed across the entire southern tip front as the final battle for Okinawa was joined and the Japanese returned to all-out attacks by suicide pilots against the fleet in Okinawan waters.
The 84th Regiment of the Seventh Infantry Division pushed southwest from Gushinchuan toward Hanagusuku village in the opening move to skirt the eastern flank of the Japanese line, of which Hanagusuku is the anchor. The 184th Regiment overran a stone fortification in a parallel advance, wiping out resistance pockets with flamethrowers and grenades.
New Suicide Attacks
Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported the return of Japanese kamikaze (suicide) pilots to the attack Wednesday and Thursday and said two small ships in the United States Fleet were damaged, bring to 25 sunk and 60 damaged the announced casualties of the fleet in operations connected with the Okinawa campaign. Sixty-seven Japanese planes were shot down, 25 by the tactical air command based on Okinawa, Nimitz said.
Radio Tokyo, however, claimed two "enemy warcraft of the larger type" and one large cruiser were sunk. Two additional cruisers and three aircraft carriers were damaged in the two-day attack, Tokyo said.
Kamikaze attacks likewise inflicted damage to two airfields on Okinawa and one on Ie Island, the Japanese said.
The Tokyo radio, quoting Domei News Agency, indirectly admitted the hopeless position of its southern tip garrison in reporting the hemmed in troops along the 450-foot escarpment were receiving only supplies dropped from planes.
Japs Are Split
The Japanese have been split into two groups. The other, on Oroku peninsula, is compressed in a small pocket, unable to join the major Yaeju-Dake defense line stretching from Itoman town on the southwest coast to Hanagusuku on the southeast.
Clearing weather which permitted aerial and heavy gun support of the ground troops also allowed the Japanese to renew their aerial assaults on American forces in the Okinawa area.
Numerous small groups of enemy kamikaze pilots made suicidal attacks Wednesday afternoon and night and again Thursday. Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said today that they succeeded in damaging two small ships.
Sixty-seven Japanese planes were destroyed in the attacks. Nimitz credited the Okinawa-based tactical air command with downing 25.
He also reported Mustangs and Corsair fighters swept southern Kyushu airfields which the Japanese had used to launch kamikaze attacks. The Army and Marine pilots shot down eight interceptors but found the fields virtually empty, indicating the Japanese are flying from northern Kyushu now.
Society To Honor Fathers On Sunday

The Rev. George S. Stoneback, Fairfield, will be the guest speaker. There will be special group singing and a Father's Day pledge will be taken by the fathers and sons. The public is invited.
SOCIETY TO MEET
The June meeting of the Adams County Crippled Children's society will be held next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Hotel Eberhart with the president, Dr. R. S. Saby, presiding.

'FREEZE' ORDER LIFTED HERE ON SUGAR RATIONS

War Price and Rationing boards of this 10-county area today resumed issuance of home canning sugar certificates on a restricted scale, the first district in the five-state OPA Region II, to lift the freeze which was imposed by direction of the OPA national office last Friday. It was announced today by Walter C. Young, District OPA Director.
No ration currency will be issued over the counter by local boards. Personal visits to boards only cause further delays, OPA points out. Applications already on hand will be given first consideration.
Applicants will not be asked to sign a pledge beyond the one appearing on the present application.
Same Maximum
Young announced that the overall maximum of 15 pounds per person or 120 pounds per family unit remains the same although local board quotas of sugar have been drastically reduced and boards have been cautioned against over-issuances. These quotas are fixed by the National and Regional Office of OPA on the basis of available supply of sugar. As a result of the cut in quotas boards will have to carefully screen all applications to make sure that sugar certificates are granted for home canning purposes only. Each person does not automatically receive 15 pounds of canning sugar—15 pounds is the maximum. Average issuance should be much less, it was pointed out.
Applications for canning sugar will be received by boards throughout the canning season up to October 31. Immediately upon receipt of the home canning sugar "freeze" OPA Director Young contacted New York and Washington offices of OPA asking for relief for this section as quickly as possible pointing out that strawberry and cherry crops were at their peak and in order to prevent spoilage sugar certificates should be released here with all possible speed. His efforts proved successful and permission was received at the district OPA office late Friday to give the green-light to boards and begin re-issuing sugar ration currency, the first district in this five-state region to be allowed to lift the "freeze."
"Last summer many who had no intention of using sugar for canning made application for home canning sugar and used the sugar for other (Please Turn to Page 2)

Philippines

By RICHARD BERGHOLZ
Manila, June 9 (AP)—Tokyo radio today reported Allied troops had landed yesterday on Labuan island off the north coast of Borneo, as Gen. Douglas MacArthur said Borneo was bombed heavily Thursday for the seventh straight day.
MacArthur also said torpedo-boats made daring sweeps off that oil-rich island's north coast and light naval forces shelled coastal defenses.
The aerial assault, with 170 tons of bombs, cratered airbase runways, destroyed two grounded planes and fired installations.
Tokyo radio said one division landed on Labuan after an Allied convoy of battleships, cruisers, destroyers and 50 smaller warships bombarded Japanese positions.
Labuan is in the China sea, almost directly across northern Borneo from Tarakan island, which Australian and Dutch troops virtually have secured after a month's fighting.
PUPILS BOOST SALE OF BONDS TO $83,286.85
Gettysburg public school students have set a new record in the sale of war bonds in the "Mighty Seventh" war loan campaign soaring to the unprecedented total of $83,286.85 through Friday. Miss N. Louise Ramer, Education Chairman for the Adams County War Finance Committee, reported this morning.
Students in the local high school closed their final week of the school term with sales of $2,076.50 to bring their grand total to $83,286.85. Pupils in the Lincoln school sold $818.75 worth of bonds this week to bring their grand total to $14,524.75.
At the High street school sales of $267.30 were reported to bring that school's total to $3,203.70.
Meade school pupils sold an additional $259.80 worth of bonds this week to bring their total to $1,813.05.
Set New Record
On the basis of the number of pupils in the four schools and the population of the area in which they sold their bonds Gettysburg school children are believed to have set a new record for war bonds sales in the state.
In commenting on the war bond sales by the local students Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, said: "I believe our school pupils have set a new record for war bond sales. Amassing a total of almost one hundred thousand dollars in sales during the short period in which the drive was in force for them I cannot praise them too highly. The teachers did a masterful job in encouraging their pupils to sell war bonds. The children responded with enthusiasm and the result of their efforts is plainly visible when one reads their total sales. I congratulate them upon this achievement."

CONSOLIDATING POSITIONS FOR DRIVE ON JAPS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Japanese reports of an Allied landing near Brunel, Borneo, probably are correct and indicate another step in General MacArthur's consolidation of his position for the ultimate drive against Japan.

Experts estimate that if we could recapture Borneo's oil fields, and find them quickly usable, it would be tantamount to a two-thirds increase in our tanker fleet in the Pacific—for Borneo would give our naval vessels a source of oil thousands of miles nearer their scene of operations than at present.

The Brunel area in North Borneo, like the island of Tarakan already invaded by the Australians, is one of these rich fields. The Japanese report only one Allied division in operation so far. Yet it is so important that the Brunel installations be secured quickly that unless the Japs have pulled out completely this is likely to develop into a major operation.

In fact, it is the type of job which MacArthur likes to supervise personally when not too involved in the over-all business of his theater. For it seems likely that the extent of damage done by the Japanese at Brunel and Tarakan might determine whether a campaign is worthwhile in the great Balikpapan fields, far down the east Borneo coast. Balikpapan is directly across from Japanese-held Celebes, which might involve an important neutralization operation.

Sincere Regrets There would seem to be little reason for any of these campaigns unless there are good indications their resources can be converted to our use in time for the Japanese invasion. The same applies to Java. Cut off and largely impotent, Japanese forces in these areas hardly seem to constitute a sufficient menace to our rear to warrant major action.

Meanwhile, other consolidation efforts go forward. American forces on Luzon have struck into the Cagayan valley, good fighting terrain which leads all the way to Aparri on the island's northern shore, and this campaign should take on a quickened tempo. The Japanese still hold something like 20,000 square miles here which is vitally needed for air bases nearer Formosa and the Japan-China supply lines. Once secured, even our fighter planes will be within range of everything from Hainan island to Okinawa and as much as 300 to 400 miles inland in China. Shuttle flights might be possible.

Under the circumstances, a special meeting of the Japanese diet is not out of place. And the words of "regret" which Premier Suzuki utters over the war with the United States are probably the most sincere he ever spoke.

'FREEZE' ORDER

(Continued from Page 1) purposes," Young said. "In doing that, they literally robbed our country of a substantial part of our limited sugar supplies. Over 300,000 more tons of sugar were used for home canning last year than we could afford.

Have Processed Applications "This year again, some chiselers were stooping to falsifying applications in an effort to get sugar that they know they won't use in canning."

"There is enough sugar to meet our home canning requirements but it will be necessary for boards, by careful processing, to make absolutely sure that applicants get sugar for canning purposes only. In the interests of legitimate home canners, thousands of bakers and other small businesses using sugar, and in the interest of the general public, the home canning sugar racket must be stopped."

Since the issuance of certificates was frozen last Friday, local boards have been engaged in screening applications on hand and were ready to begin re-issuing when they received today's order by mail.

CAESAR RODNEY

After a ride that rivals Paul Revere's, Caesar Rodney broke a tie vote in Delaware's delegation to the Continental Congress at Philadelphia on Lee's resolution for independence. Late on July 1, 1776, he arrived home after quelling a revolt in Sussex County where he received an urgent summons to Philadelphia. Mounting a horse, he rode through the night and arrived in the northern city in time to place Delaware with the other colonies backing the resolution. That spirit of service animates Delaware people in buying War Bonds today to insure liberty for future generations.

HITLER MAY BE HIDING IN SPAIN

London, June 9 (AP) — Marshal Zhukov, an NBC broadcast from Moscow said today, believes that Adolf Hitler is hiding in Europe possibly in Spain, and it is up to American and British troops to find him.

The Russian war leader also said Hitler had married Eva Braun two days before Berlin fell.

Correspondent Robert Magidoff quoted Zhukov as telling correspondents in Berlin: "Marshal Zhukov said that his troops found a number of corpses which might have been Hitler's, but he doubts it. Hitler probably waited until the last moment and then took off in a plane that was ostensibly held in constant readiness."

"And I think," said the marshal, "that Hitler is hiding somewhere in Europe, possibly with Gen. Franco. And now it's up to you British and Americans to find him."

"Diaries of the accidents of the German general staff had fallen into the hands of the Russians and from them it was learned that Hitler married the German movie actress Eva Braun." Reuters carried a similar report quoting Zhukov.

PARLEY NEARS END OF WORK

San Francisco, June 9 (AP)—The United Nations Conference moved a long step nearer completion of a new world charter today with plans for international trusteeships virtually complete and the veto voting formula under apparently final debate.

With more certainty than they have shown previously most delegates are talking about June 20 as the windup date on which President Truman may address the Conference, though some few still held hope for June 15 or 16.

The pressure for speed is so great that weary delegates were called to meet tonight in a committee session with the voting formula. Under this formula, the great powers would retain a veto control over all major decisions of the proposed world security council. A preliminary sub-committee meeting was scheduled for earlier in the day.

Since Russia agreed with the United States, Britain, China and France Thursday that the veto could not be used to prevent free discussion in the council, it only remains now for the small nations to express their views on the formula. All signs indicate they will accept it.

The break on international trusteeship came in a three and one-half hour session last night. Russian objections on two points involving independence for trustee peoples and the status of present mandated territories were ironed out beforehand.

CITY CREEK MONUMENT

Orson Platt and Erastus Snow emerged from the East Canyon the morning of July 21, 1847, and marched at the head of the Great Salt Lake Valley, Utah. Later Brigham Young, suffering from "mountain fever," arrived with the rear guard of settlers. They "gazed with admiration upon the vast valley with the waters of the Great Salt Lake glistening in the sun." War Bonds furnish funds to keep supplies going to U. S. fighting forces that keep enemies far from this region where a monument memorializes the sacrifices of settlers who made possible today's enterprising state.

The Whistle Of The Train

By LEIGHTON C. TAYLOR (Our Rural Scribe)

Political, economic, social, industrial, intellectual, and emotional energies—all these have contributed to the making of America, and in this making about innumerable romantic factors and human interest stories that have played, and are playing, an important role in welding the vast sprawling regions of our country into one great nation.

Among them one must accord to the whistle of the train a high place. There is something about that long lonesome-sounding wail at night that distinguishes it from all other sounds. Train whistles echo back and forth among the granite-ledge hills of the north as the puffing engines twist along winding river valleys. They send echoes through the pine lands of the south; the sound rolls across the flat, rich fields of the middle west, and reverberates among the craggy passes of the Cascades.

Listen For Whistle Out in the country the farmers and the townsfolk listen for the whistle of the 5:15 at Bill Smith's Crossing, a half mile from the village depot. Lum and Abner at the Jot-'em-down-Store, down in Pine

News Collected At Random

Did Japan plan the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor and set the date for December 7, 1941 far in advance?

The following, which some of you may have missed, might dispel any illusions as to the sincerity of the Japs toward peace with the U. S.

Koto Matsudaira, First Secretary, of the Japanese Embassy, Washington, wrote the following to Mr. Herbert S. Mills, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, on November 25, 1941, as reprinted in many papers recently in this country:

"Referring to the booklet which you were so kind to send to me at my request, I wish to have the articles of the annexed list delivered to me. I should like to have them before December 7th at the latest. As regards payment, I will be much obliged if you will designate an agent in Washington, D. C. (or in New York) to whom I may be able to pay in cash; this may save me from encountering many technical difficulties of transfer of funds under the freezing order.

"I may add that the delivery of the commodities to me will be effected duty free to the American border. I must, however, notify the State Department beforehand and for that purpose I ask you to inform me of the approximate date of the passage of the goods."

The War Department has announced that German prisoners of war did more than $44,000,000 worth of work in the U.S. in the first quarter of the year. . . 3,880,108 man days of work on Army posts and 3,230,465 man days of work for private contractors. Prisoners received 80 cents from private contractors and the balance, $8,932,290, was deposited in the U.S. Treasury.

The "Profession of Faith" from and by the United States Chamber of Commerce, looks ahead to the building of a better America. The closing paragraph is particularly pertinent. Here it is:

"In this solemn hour of history, we affirm again our belief that our country is great because it was founded upon principles of liberty that are elemental and profound. We pledge ourselves anew to the ideal of freedom; we dedicate ourselves anew to the spirit of unity; we consecrate ourselves anew to the welfare of the whole American people, whose fortunes, good or ill, are the collective fortunes of us all."

USEFULNESS

I can remember once a little lad
Who ran the streets on errands for his pence,
And in such useful services was gladThat, he to friends could be of consequence.
Of there were those who smiled
at his return
And thanked him for the spirit
he had shown.
For gratitude is also good to earn,
As well they know in money paid alone.That little lad is now at temples gray
And looking back across his span of years,
Remembering all that's happened,
This he'd say:
"The best of life in being of use appears."

Today's Talk

THE IMPORTANT OBJECTIVE

Whatever the order of our lives, we must have an objective toward which to plan, fight and devote every ounce of our energy. But that objective must be far outside of our selves, and far more important.We must have some one person, a dog, a garden, or some useful and interesting hobby, on which to shower our affection, our thoughts and our bursting enthusiasms.
Something more important than ourselves must gain and hold our interest. Otherwise there is no hope for happiness, for happiness that you cannot share is not happiness at all. It's just a temporary creation, like the bubble blown from a pipe, that the tiniest of outside effort is able to blot out instantly.The scientist, experimenting for years upon one single idea, never looks upon those years as lost. I have always liked that statement of Edison's, after he had been taken to task for trying over and over again, experiments that had ended in failure.
He said that all these many failures proved to him that there would be that many less failures.
You see, with such an attitude he was continually approaching his very objective—his final triumph.We must centre our minds and hearts upon some object that is far removed from our own self-centered sphere. God is real to us just the moment that we feel that he is a part of our thoughts, our dreams, and our everyday joy of living. But we have to search out God, who, as a matter of fact, is forever closer to us than anyone or anything.It was Henri-Frederick Amiel who stated in his journal of July 16th, 1848, that "there is but one thing needful—to possess God. All our senses, all our powers of mind and soul, all our external resources, are so many modes of tasting and of adoring God."Thoughts can clothe or furnish any place with beauty. We are what we see in our heart. But we are blinded if we live in a shell of selfishness. No light can shimmer there. To see afar all the curtains must be lifted and all self-importance discarded.

GLIDER EXPERT

DIRECTS RESCUE
WORK OF TRIO

By RALPH MORTON

Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, June 9 (AP)—A glider expert who knows the jungle and its strange tribesmen acted as aerial advisor today while paratroopers in the "hidden valley of Shrangri-La" prepared a dramatic rescue.The expert, Michael J. Leahy, a Royal Australian Air Force squadron leader, probably will land the glider and remove the WAC and two Army airmen who survived a transport crash 28 days ago which killed a score of other Army sightseers.Watched by giant, spear-armed natives, the paratroopers labored on the swampy strip in the fantastic valley 150 miles southwest of Hol-landia. The paratroopers had brought the natives their first contact with the world outside.Nearby are the red and white pyramidal army tents which house the surviving trio, two medical technicians, eight paratroopers and Capt. Cecil A. Walters, a native of Oregon who has spent most of his life in the Philippines. Walters is the ground director.

Supplies Dropped

The men parachuted to attend the survivors and build the field where the glider will be sent in, then jerked into the air by the grab-hook of a low-flying C47."We dropped you a case of beer," announced Maj. George Gardner, of Cleveland, in a radio conversation on a supply flight."That's the best news we've had yet," replied a Filipino paratrooper, using a parachute walkie-talkie.The trio of survivors—WAC Cpl.
Margaret Hastings, Owego, N. Y.;
Lt. John B. McCollom, Trenton, Mo.;
and Sgt. Kenneth W. Decker, Kelso, Wash.—are being treated for injuries by parachute medical supplies and are in good condition.Months ago, Squadron Leader Leahy supervised a glider landing in a little explored valley of New Guinea headwaters where conditions are somewhat analogous to Hidden Valley.The six-foot natives of Hidden Valley have made no menacing move although known to war on each other. However, they have been slow to make friends. Walters' men are armed.

Glider With Skis

The soil has proved so rough and swampy that Walters favors sending in a glider equipped with skis.The captain radioed an order for special equipment including a dozen machetes and jungle boots.
In a plane over the valley, I watched supplies pushed out by Sgt.
James W. Kirchanski, Detroit, a paratrooper rigger, land near the rescue camp. These included the beer, field rations, radio batteries and personal mail.One supply plane was unable to drop its precious cargo of food because the valley was clouded over, a situation which may have been a factor in the May 13 crash.In the first flight over the 25-mile-long valley by a newsman since the tragedy occurred, I saw plainly the tent camp, contrasting strangely with the thatched, walled-in settlements of the natives. I could see the paratroopers standing nearby.

Hints On Roach Control

The presence of roaches, like bedbugs, is not evidence of careless housekeeping. These pests may invade homes where all conditions are above criticism. In many instances they are brought in on packages from stores, laundries, groceries and even on the clothes of visitors. There is no complete immunity against roach infestation, although considerable safety lies in knowing how to exterminate the pests promptly when they arrive, also in keeping attractions reduced to a minimum.Roaches are not only troublesome and destructive, feeding on book-bindings, starched fabrics and food human diseases through the food they contaminate.One of the first rules to observe in preventing roaches from becoming established in the home is to discard all attracting food wastes with care and to keep all attracting foods carefully covered, especially sweets and fats.Gasoline, turpentine, lye, kerosene and other local remedies are as effective against roaches as a fly swatter—only the individuals hit by the liquid are killed.Housewives should inspect all packages before they are brought into a roach-free house and should

Riding with Russell

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL member S. A. E.

Even though postwar car prices may be higher the manufacturers probably will still throw in the clutch.

Where the oil filter is equipped with a drain you may wonder sometimes why you can open this drain and not be able to draw off anything in the way of sludge. There are two reasons for this. One is that the sludge may be so thick it won't flow. In that event just poke a nail or wire into the drain and bestir the thickened sludge until it starts to run out. The other possibility is that the sludge in the outer shell of the filter is air bound. To correct this just loosen the top of the filter to let in a little air. Then the sludge, water and other sediment will drain off freely.

More About Additives

I am impressed by a line I picked up in the literature of one of the makers of those special additives for lubricating oil. "Do not be misled or confused," it reads, "by the fellow who puts something into the oil to increase its film strength beyond that originally built into it by a reliable refinery." That's pretty straight talk from one who is selling a product to improve oil action. I am a firm believer in careful use of good additives, but I want to be sure of my product and I don't propose to overdo its use. Always remember that when you loosen up motor gums and varnishes you have done only half the job. The next step is to get rid of what you've dislodged from the valves, rings and other motor parts. That's one reason I recommend more frequent oil drainings when using solvents as additives.

If valves have been ground in so many times that they seat too deeply they should be replaced with a valve with oversize head. In this event you need only use a 45 degree reamer to reface the valve seat.

Compressed air can be used effectively for testing the engine. The car is put in gear with brakes secured, air being blown into the test cylinder when its piston is at upper dead center with valves closed. The way the air escapes is the hint as to what service each cylinder needs.

A water pump that leaks coolant when the engine is idle will suck air into the system when the engine is running. In fact, any leaks between the pump and the radiator on the suction side of the pump will invite air, even if there are no visible signs of coolant leakage.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"Next time you note that oil consumption is too high and you feel inclined to buy some new piston rings pause a moment to consider the possibility that all you may need are new bearing inserts. Rings are blamed for a lot of grief for which they are not entirely responsible.

"When bearings are worn or loose oil is free to fly off them. It goes to the cylinder walls where it overtakes the rings. Four times the normal clearance at the bearings will send 25 per cent more oil to the cylinder walls. This is usually more than the rings can handle, so they are forced to let much of it work up into the combustion chambers. Consider bearings first when you find yourself ring conscious."

In these days of weakened batteries, struggling generators and generally poor connections throughout the car's wiring system attention frequently centers on the condition of the wires themselves. There is a certainty that line losses are increased by deterioration of insulation, which exposes the wires to leakage, and there may even be bare spots from rubbing against metallic parts of the frame or body. An old rule here is useful. Voltage drop over the longest of the wires should never exceed 5 per cent. It isn't considered good practice to have any wire over 12 feet in length.

Helping the Ride

Few operators realize it but a car's riding qualities are very dependent on the way it is driven. There are certain types of old roads which can be traversed more smoothly at certain speeds. A washboard road, for instance, rides better at either very low speed or a gait of around 40. If the driver takes his foot off the gas when the car goes into a chuck hole the effect is the same as applying the brakes, and the car immediately reacts unfavorably. It is always better to coast over rough spots or to keep the car under a little power. Applying the brakes after a car goes into a curve will always make for loss of car equilibrium. Cutting across car tracks at an angle will make for less shock to the car than crossing at right angles.

If it is necessary to "pull" the pistons of the engine of your car be sure to have them treated to the special restoration process which has been so successful both in civilian motor maintenance and in the Allied armies. Inefficient pistons are resized permanently by this mechanical process and won't collapse again. They are expanded accurately within .001 inch. No weight is added to the pistons so treated, nor are they weakened in any way. There is, however, no distortion of the piston pin fit—an important point to consider in reusing an old piston.

Back To Process

Motor history continually reminds us that we may have made what we choose to call progress at the expense of giving up many advantages. I was reminded of this by talking over the Witherbee Storage Battery Igniter which some old timers may remember as an important contribution to motoring in the year 1906. Fifteen thousand of them were in regular use at the time! Smile at its oddities, if you will, but this early battery carried a built-in handle which is something your money doesn't buy today. Then there was the charging outfit, a special hook-up that plugged into any DC lighting outlet. With this and a voltmeter you were all set to get maximum service from this early battery without the headaches we enjoy today when the starter groans and we have to put in a call for help.

Before deciding that a new piston ring is right for its particular groove always roll it around the groove several times to make sure that it doesn't stick. If there is any binding the ring should be dressed down by giving it a rotary motion when laid on its side on an emery paper. Rotate the ring carefully by pressing your fingers on it. Run the ring round and round on the emery paper until it has been dressed down enough to fit into its groove without any suggestion of stickage.

The Motor Quiz

Q. What would cause the engine of my car to race? This does not always happen but just enough to be dangerous. Wm. L. L.

A. There should be no danger so long as you have a clutch and can always disconnect the engine. But it is annoying. The remedy is simple. Just check the throttle shaft for stickage. I would also replace the throttle return spring as it may be weak.

Q. There are frequent explosions in the exhaust system. One service man tells me this may be due to a lean mixture; another says it indicates a rich mixture. How can they both be right? Please advise. T. M. N.

A. Any variation from a normal mixture would cause muffler and exhaust explosions. Also incorrect timing, poor valve action and spark plug inefficiency. Any time that some unburned gas vapor gets into the exhaust it is apt to explode there. A lean mixture often won't fire in the cylinders but will let go when it gets into the exhaust. Same for the excess of an over-rich mixture.

Q. Does a car need any special treatment after the body and fenders have been given new finish by spray coating? I am having the car reconditioned and want to be sure not to damage the new finish. K. G.

A. Give the body a good waxing. All the new finish needs is protection. No need for all the fussing that went with a paint job.

Q. Why is it bad to inflate a tire when it is flat and the wheel isn't jacked up? H. L. D.

A. This places too much strain on one section of the tube. In the case of a synthetic tube this process is sure to stretch and weaken it. Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him care of The Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply.

Supreme Court May Get Ward Dispute

Chicago, June 9 (AP)—The government's court battle with Montgomery Ward and company over seizure of the mail order house properties, declared legal by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, appeared headed today to the U. S. Supreme Court for final decision.

It was the company's next move in the controversy following yesterday's ruling by the Court of Appeals upholding the late President Roosevelt's December 28 seizure order affecting company properties in seven cities. The 2 to 1 decision reversed Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan's decision which held the seizure unconstitutional.

Board Chairman Sewell L. Avery, principal figure in the labor dispute, said the company will carry on its fight to the high court. Meanwhile, no immediate change in the operation of the company is expected. The army, under Judge Sullivan's January 27 ruling, has been in control pending the appeal and is expected to remain in charge until a final verdict.

OWI Budget Gets 17 Million Slash

Washington, June 9 (AP)—House Republicans claimed credit today for the smashing success of an economy drive against OWI, while Democratic leaders pondered what to do about a heavy voting majority that doesn't always vote.

It may be a short-lived victory. The Senate in the past frequently has restored such House-voted reductions and the House has acquiesced or compromised by accepting half of the Senate's increases.

Goodrich extra-high cleats and open-center design give a deeper bite; the tough, paired cleats give double grip; and the open design is self-cleaning... has no mud-catching pockets—the cleats spring dirt free.

See B. F. Goodrich tires in action on your own neighbors' farms; you'll see them do a fine job. Then come in and see us for your Silvertowns—the long-wearing tires that give you traction when and where you need it.

BUY TWICE AS MANY BONDS IN THE MIGHTY 7th WAR LOAN!

The time is ripe.

It's now—now when America can't afford to falter . . . NOW is the time for you to back up our fighting men by buying twice as many War Bonds in this mighty 7th War Loan as you ever did before!

Does that seem like too much of a chore? Would you rather wait until crops are in and you have more cash?

You wouldn't, if you could see how urgent it is to act now.

Up to this time last year there had been two war loans. This year, the 7th War Loan must raise almost as much as two loans last year. That's why you are asked: Buy twice as many Bonds in this mighty 7th War Loan!

Regardless of what has happened in Germany, we must still send our millions of men in Europe tons and more tons of supplies daily.

In the Pacific we still haven't gone all-out against Japan. We must build new, deadlier, more costly planes . . . harder-hitting tanks . . . new warships . . . and more of everything than ever before, if we are not to let our boys down just when they need our help the most.

And we, all of us, have a new responsibility . . . to the thousands of our wounded. We must see to it that they get the best of care, the best of medicines, the best of everything through the long, pain-filled months of their recovery.

All this takes money. That is why your country is again asking you to lend your dollars by buying twice as many Bonds as you ever did before!

THE MIGHTY 7th WAR LOAN

War Bonds pay off in these 7 ways...

- 1 The same Government security backs your War Bonds as backs the actual dollars you put into them.
- 2 You get $100 at maturity for every $75 loaned now.
- 3 You can get your money back, 60 days after issue date, any time you need it . . . in the meantime you get safety and steady growth.
- 4 You have a backlog to renew farm buildings and equipment after the war.
- 5 Bonds will insure your children's schooling, or provide for your own security, travel, retirement.
- 6 Bonds go into a national nest egg that will help to assure post-war prosperity.
- 7 Bonds transform your love of home and country into action . . . you join personally in the biggest, most urgent War Loan of all—the Seventh!

Chapter 21

"Kay," Rex said again, "my dar-
- ling, this must be what death is
- like."

"What do you mean?"
"Kay, I'm married already." His
- voice was a whisper.

She stared at him, her eyes wide
- and incredulous, her face growing
- white. "Married?" she repeated.

"Oh, no! Not that, Rex."
"Yes, My wife lives in California."

He sat up and looked at Kay.
- She didn't answer. She was star-
- ing at him with disbelief in her
- eyes, begging him mutely to tell
- her it wasn't true.

"So you see," he added, "I have
- no right to love you. And certainly
- I shouldn't have let you know."

"Hush," she whispered, "I won't
- let you regret today. But—why
- isn't she here with you?"

"I'll tell you, Kay," he answered.
- "It isn't a long story." He looked
- away from her, looked through the
- white and sapphire hangings
- through the window, as though he
- saw the gray stretch of time with-
- out her. "Amelia was a pretty girl
- and I fell in love with her. She was
- a few years older than I, and I
- didn't know much about women.

I found soon after we married that
- she thought my family had money.
- They didn't.

"When she found that she had
- thrown herself away on a poor
- medical student she was furious
- and promptly fell in love with
- another man whom she knew was
- wealthy. She asked me for a di- vorce. I refused. I worshipped her
- with a young boy's first blind adora- tion. Besides, I was going away to
- war and I wanted someone who
- cared whether I came back alive or
- not. I was so sure that she would
- get over her infatuation for that
- other man. You see, I really did
- love her enough to think that. . . ."

He paused a moment, staring
- into space. When Kay made no
- comment, he went on: "Well,
- Amelia was the kind of person
- who didn't believe in waiting for
- tomorrow. She ran away with her
- lover one night. In their hurry to
- get away they were speeding around
- a mountain. There was an accident
- and the man was killed. Amelia was
- hopelessly crippled. She blamed me
- and still does to this day. She says
- if I had given her her freedom they
- would never have run away and
- there would have been no accident."

Kay nodded mechanically, but
- said nothing.

"So I went to that other war and
- remained in Europe for years. I - have sent Amelia the money she's
- needed all this time. I've never
- seen her since."

"No! Oh, no!"
"And so you know now, Kay,"
- he said hoarsely. "Shall I go now?"

"Yes," she whispered. "You'd bet- ter go." Thinking: I mustn't let him
- see how terribly hurt I am ever.

He turned at the door. "Kay,"
- he asked, "will you do one favor
- for me?"

She looked up at him, saw the
- pain in his eyes, heard the suffer- ing in his voice. Rex, whom she
- loved with every fibre of her being,

MONDAY AND TUESDAY
"The Unseen" is one of those chillers which comes along every so often to test the movie-goer's fortitude. Principal characters in this Paramount film, arriving Monday at the Majestic theatre, are Gail Russell, Joel McCrea and Herbert Marshall. All three do their share of providing the mystery and suspense which characterizes every scene, according to reports.

Insiders say the action alone is worth the price of admission. The story tells of a young governess, played by Gail, who's hired by McCrea to take charge of his two children. Herbert Marshall is cast as family physician and good friend of McCrea's while the latter's youngsters are played by two beguiling children, Nona Griffith and Richard Lyon.

WEDNESDAY

"Main Street After Dark," which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is presenting at the Majestic theatre, is a compact, "time-moving" and "exciting" thriller about women pickpockets who prey upon soldiers and sailors at embarkation points until the police department evolves a novel plan and cleans out the criminals who engage in this despicable thievery.

Particularly, "Main Street After Dark" concentrates on hardened "Ma" Dilsen, who brings up her children to a life of crime which leads to murder and the full penalty of the law. Selena Royle, the veteran stage star, plays "Ma" Dilsen, and Tom Trout, Audrey Totter, Dan Duryea and Dorothy Ruth Morris are seen as her family who she encourages in this racket. Hume Cronyn is excellent as a "fence" who receives the stolen goods. Edward Arnold plays the part of Lt. Lorrigan.

THURSDAY

The exciting comedy-drama, "Torrid Zone," a Warner Bros. re-issue of the hit picture starring James Cagney, Ann Sheridan and Pat O'Brien, plays at the Majestic theatre on Thursday.

The picture, set against the exotic tropical background of the South American banana country, has Cagney and O'Brien cast as hard-boiled plantation bosses for a hard-boiled company. Miss Sheridan is in the role of an American torch singer who goes to the "torrid zone" to cash in on her talents as a singer and card sharp.

BOSOX KNOCK YANKS OUT OF TOP POSITION

By JACK HAND
 (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Detroit tops the American league today but the loud noise in the back room comes from the Boston Red Sox.

Joe Cronin's Sox belted the New York Yankees out of the lead and advanced into third place only two games off the pace with nine wins in their last 10 starts.

While the Tigers have been sneaking up on the Yankees at a leisurely five out of 10 pace, the Boston gang has been galloping on the outside behind the inspired pitching of Dave Ferriss.

With the earlier pace setters, both the Yankees and Chicago White Sox, falling back, the race has turned into a "stab the winner" affair with at least five clubs in the running.

"Turns" Get Aid
 When Steve O'Neill lost Al Benton with a broken leg two weeks ago, many fans kissed off the Tigers' pennant chances, believing they would be out of the running before the ex-sailor again would be ready to take his turn. But Stubby Overmire reeled off four straight victories and Les Mueller and Joe Orr-elli have shown encouraging form to take some of the burden off the pitching twins of Hal Newhouse and Dizzy Trout.

Orr-elli took his third starting turn in yesterday's twilight game with the Chicago White Sox and was credited with his first decision, 2-1, although weakening in the ninth.

O'Neill had to go back to his 1944 formula of relieving with Trout for the first time this year and saved the game and first place.

Cronin had to use three hurriers to stop the Yankees, 6-4, after the Sox belted Ernie Bonham off the hill for his fifth straight setback, on a four-run sixth inning. Starter Clem Hausmann got the credit. It was dung-dung up to the last out when Ben Steiner made a finger-tip catch of Nick Etten's liner to end the game. George Metkovich's two-run homer in the seventh was the clincher.

Russ Christopher became the top winner among big league pitchers by grabbing No. 9 at Washington's expense, 4-0. The lanky Philadelphia Athletics' side-arm artist yielded six singles, four in the first two innings, and ran his string of scoreless innings to 17.

Browns Drop Peg
 St. Louis dropped behind Boston into fourth slot by bowing to Cleveland's Steve Gromek, 2-1. Pete Gray tripled, singled and scored the Browns' only run.

Pittsburgh took the St. Louis Cardinals into 13 innings but the world champs finally won out, 4-3, for Reliever Kenny Burkhardt over Al Gorgehauser. The Pirates broke a 2-1 tie in the top of the 13th but the birds came back with two to cement their hold on second place, three games behind the idle New York Giants who were rained out in Boston.

Freddie Fitzsimmons' Phillies ran their losing streak up to 12 by bowing to Brooklyn, 9-1, on Curt Davis' five-hitter and the veteran Paul Derringer handcuffed his one-time mates from Cincinnati in hurling the Chicago Cubs to a 7-3 triumph over the cooled-off Reds.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
 New York, June 9 (AP)—May be it's just another false start—remember all those disqualifications last year?—but Dapper Dan Ferriss figures a lot of comparatively unknown sprinters may figure in the National A.A.U. championships this year. . . . Perry Samuels, the Texas schoolboy, is the best in the country on the times he has recorded, Ferriss points out. Other speedy performances have been made by Crosson of Mo., Van Velder of Navy, Dickey of Louisiana state, Little Bill Mathias of Washington, D. C., and a couple of Ohio schoolboys, Afzal of Cleveland East Tech and Johnson of Columbus East high. . . . The most surprising feat of the season, Dan adds, was turned in by an athlete who isn't certain he can enter the big meet here June 29-30. . . . Navy Lt. Jimmy O'Reilly, former Southern California frosh, came into Florida after a training session aboard a carrier and ran 100 yards in 9.6, 220 in 20.9, broad jumped 23 feet 7½ inches, won the low hurdles in 23.8 and ran on a winning relay team.

70,000 GATHER FOR 71ST DERBY; THREE FAVORED

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
 Louisville, Ky., June 9 (AP)—Churchill Downs surrendered today to the spirit of the 71st Kentucky Derby, perhaps the richest in its history, and another war-time crowd that may reach 70,000.

Men and women, young and old, rich and poor, began streaming through the gates hours before the nine-race program began, unimpressed that another drenching deluge might splash down to ruin the hopes of a good track promised for the seventh race, the Derby event. Post time is 5:15 p. m. CWT.

The names of the three speeders from the east, topped by F. W. Hooper's Hoop Jr., and rated as the classiest of a sparkling field of 16 three-year olds, were on the lips of almost everybody as the probable winner of the punishing mile and a quarter race.

May Be Richest Derby
 The other two easterners were Col. C. V. Whitney's Jeep and Henry Lunge's Alexis.

Also prominently considered were Warren Wright's Pot O'Luck and Darby Dieppe, entry of Mrs. W. G. Lewis of Evans, Ky., surprise winner of the recent Blue Grass stakes, principal Kentucky preparatory test for Derby nominees.

If all sixteen start, it will be the richest derby in history with a gross value of $66,875, and with the owner of the winning thoroughbred drawing down $64,850.

Hoop Jr., a lean magnificent bay colt, probably will go to the post a 5 to 2 favorite because of his victory in one division of the Wood Memorial and his most astonishing of all pre-derby workouts. He will be ridden by the cagey, hard-hitting Eddie Arcaro, in quest of his third Derby triumph. Hoop will break from the outside stall in the 12-horse main starting gate.

Pot O'Luck and Jeep probably will go to the post as 4 to 1 second choices. Jeep, like Hoop Jr., won a division of the Wood and will have Arnold Kirkland in the pilot house.

Pot O'Luck is trained by the noted Missourian, Ben Jones. Race horse fans know that anything Jones trains must be ready, for he has won a trio of Derbies first with Lawrin, then Whirlaway and with Pensive last year. Douglas Dodson will have the mount on Wright's colt.

If the track remains muddy, Darby Dieppe's chances are considered better, but track conditions also will improve the chances of Hoop Jr., Foreign Agent, Alexis, Tiger Rebel, Byrnesbond, Air Sailor, and Misweet, only filly in the race. She will be the 27th filly to start through the years of the race. Only one, Regret, poked her nose down in front and that was 30 years ago.

Only Burning Dream, the colt Kentuckians are counting upon to give the 85-year-old Col. E. R. Bradley of Lexington his fifth victory in the Derby, is considered the only doubting starter. Trainer Jimmy Smith said the Bradley racer would be scratched if the track remains muddy.

The owners have until 45 minutes before post time to withdraw.

"exhibition" mile recently when he wasn't in shape to run and found Roland Sink, a navy trainee at Harvard won the national junior title a couple of years ago, all set to give him a trimming. Jim blames the promoter. . . . Bill Werber, former major league infielder, has authored a book called "One Man's Wealth." . . . No wonder. Remember how runners used to try to steal home just to escape Bill's insurance sales talk at third?

WILLIE JOYCE GETS NOD OVER IKE WILLIAMS

By TED MEIER
 New York, June 9 (AP)—Willie Joyce gave the "smart money" boys as well as Ike Williams a beating at Madison Square Garden last night.

A 13 to 5 underdog, Joyce whipped the NBC lightweight champion for the third time in their four meetings. He gained a split 10-round decision in the non-title affair after each had floored the other in one of the most furious rounds in Garden history.

Before the fight, Col. Eddie Eagan, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, took cognizance of rumors that the "fix was in." He warned Joyce and Williams he would suspend them if he detected any dishonest effort. Afterwards he honored both by visiting the dressing rooms and extending congratulations.

"You were wonderful, Willie," he told Joyce. "That was the greatest last round I've ever seen in boxing." To Williams, Eagan said: "That was a great fight. You fought hard and had tough luck. Congratulations."

Both Knocked Down
 A crowd of 12,491 (gross gate $53,016) screamed and yelled as Williams, behind on points, nailed Joyce with a short right to the chin early in the last round. Willie crumpled to the canvas.

He was up at two and, striking back furiously, floored Williams for a one count. Seconds later he all but knocked Ike through the ropes. Williams kept himself from going down by grabbing the top strand. They slugged toe and toe the rest of the round with both landing punishing blows.

"I had to get him after he knocked me down," Joyce said afterwards. "I felt I had to drop him to win." Joyce, from Gary, Ind., now feels he has demonstrated his superiority over the Trenton, N. J. Negro. Charley Schuster, Joyce's manager, said he would start negotiations for a title bout with Bob Montgomery, recognized as lightweight champion in New York and Pennsylvania.

Joyce weighed 135½ and Williams 137½. It was the latter's first fight since he knocked out Juan Zurita for the NBA title in Mexico City on April 18.
